DOCUMENTARY – A MODERN TALE

Boi was originally aimed to relate the living conditions of individuals in countries where political and religion issues made living conditions difficult. But Boi became the story of an inner struggle, Boi is about the pursuit of somebody's real self. Boi is the story of a girl who wanted to be boy. Boi keeps tracks of Nitzan's life and body changes following her through her journey all over the world but most important the journey to find out who she really is.

PHOTO BOOK – A BOY NOT A MAN

Facing an extremely rare and honest testimony, the photo book is a precious item aimed to remember mankind conditions. However where we come from, what is our gender, we are all trapped by societies, of our origins and legacy, and sometimes victims of our own body. Eventually this is a matter of freedom. It remains to every single individual to remember and to praise those who had gut to escape their conditions and to live the way they are. It is our duty to struggle with ourselves, our inner conflicts whatever they are to set ourselves free.

VOORDEKUNST

For 10 years we worked on BOI, Song of a Wanderer at our own costs. The project grew above our expectations and became not only a documentary aimed to witness an extraordinary story but also an art project that consists in the publication of a photo book and an exhibition. In order to offer a perfect screening experience, we started to raise funds through the well-known Crowd Funding website VoordeKunst and will offer to all our VoordeKunst contributors a screening at the opening of the Amsterdam's Gay Pride and will simultaneously have the opening of the exhibition at the FOAM Amsterdam
